I thought youall were making changes in front of the meeting but I guess not. My thoughts are that the default spacing should be variable currently. Oil OK as 40 ac but nobody will want just 40 if they can go for the 640. Gas should be minimum of 160 up to 640 as the election of the operator and OK'd by you.

Per your request, here is a copy of the Draft Rules. The copy should be the same as previous copies from the point where we stopped last time (Section 210) going forward.
