Please deny industrialization of Wolf Lodge Bay. The history of these pristine waters as spawning grounds, bald eagles, ospreys and Native American camping as shown by the presence of arrowheads came long before docks and boat storage. Multitudes of people from all over drive around the bay to watch bald eagles feed on kokanee and visitors to the area get their first look at beautiful Coeurdalene Lake when they approach Wolf Lodge Bay. Even the elusive grey wolf has been spotted nearby along with almost every creature known to North Idaho. Please do not destroy this special place!
