

2021 Forestry Contest Volunteers

The Idaho Department of Lands is excited to share with you good news about the 2021 Idaho State Forestry Contest. The Forestry Contest will be held this May and – although the format has changed – we still need the help of our generous volunteers!

This year's changes to note:

- Fewer participants: this year's contest will be open to Junior and Senior competitors only.
- Multiple locations and days to allow for social distancing: based on pre-registration numbers, contest sites across northern Idaho will be chosen to host the contest. Contest dates will occur during the week of May 10th - May 14th.
- Shorter contest time: the contest has been shortened to 4 stations with no lunch or awards ceremony.

As always, your volunteer involvement is crucial to the success of this exciting event and we are asking for your help. Because this year's competition will have less fanfare, your good spirits are needed more than ever to make this contest a fun and educational experience for all. If you are interested in volunteering, mark your calendars for the week of May 10th and hold tight. We will follow up after April 16th to announce locations and final volunteer needs.

Thank you!
