2022 Idaho State Forestry Contest

A large debt of gratitude goes to the Delay family for their legacy of support and commitment to the youth of Idaho and the future of the forestry profession. The 39th Idaho State Forestry Contest was the start of a new era and the decision was made to host the 2022 Forestry Contest at Farragut State Park with the course located in the Scott Group Area. We were excited to welcome students from 7 different counties in Idaho and saw a resurgence in FFA teams attending! We hope to continue to grow the Forestry Contest to include as many new participants as possible.

2022 also saw an increase in prize monies as well as significant scholarship opportunities to the winners from the College of Natural Resources—University of Idaho.

Registration Process

Once you have submitted your preregistration documents you will receive a confirmation email. You will then receive a Registration Roster to provide your contestants name, we understand there will be changes but request that you complete and return with the information you have as soon as possible for planning purposes.
